

Snow day English work

Seeing as today as been declared a whole school snow day I wanted to link our English work to SNOW.

I would like you to look at snowy areas: Switzerland, the Artic and Antarctica as examples of places that experience snow for a lot of the year. Then choose some information to put into a non-chronological report. You can write about the people, the weather, the animals, traditions and cultures, you might even want to think about food.

Remember when writing a non-chronological report you need to think about an introduction, sub-headings, a conclusion and images.

I am really looking forward to reading when exciting information you can find.
